Psychiatric Service Dogs

The Psychiatric Service Dog Society (PSDS) is a 501(c)3 nonprofit organization dedicated to responsible Psychiatric Service Dog (PSD) education, advocacy, research and training facilitation. It provides essential information for persons disabled by severe mental illness, who wish to train a service dog to assist with the management of symptoms. It consults regularly with mental healthcare providers in their efforts to learn more about PSD.

Private Trainers

There are private service dog trainers in many areas of New England. Often, they have worked for other organizations and then gone on their own. Make sure to check references thoroughly.
