

Information to Leave Regarding Pets

Name and contact information of any agents authorized to care for your animals

For each animal:

- Name and dob
- Name of current veterinarian and any veterinary specialists involved with the care
- Health conditions of animal
- Food type, location and feeding instructions
- List of medications, location and instructions
- Any training the animals has had and name of trainer
- Location of leashes, crates, other equipment and notes on their use
- Behavior personality notes
- Other pertinent information

This information should be given to any and all agents. A copy should be available in your home to be noticed by first responders and ACO's. Perhaps attached to the refrigerator with a magnet. (Similar information regarding yourself should also be available.)

Carry information in your wallet stating that you have pets at home and where to find this information and the name/contact information of your agent.
